

Here you will find some feedback based on the answers you have provided as well as some other information on staying safe whilst drinking which you may find useful.

Some of the questions you answered regarding your drinking come from the Alcohol Use Disorders Identification Test, a questionnaire developed by the World Health Organisation to determine whether a person's drinking might be becoming problematic. Your answers to these questions provided the following result.